Dress Code

- Begin and end student teaching on the days prescribed by the Social Studies Education coordinator. Any extra days are at the discretion of the clinical educator and teacher candidate.
- Assume teaching responsibilities for minimum of three classes and at least two preps. The teacher candidate should assume as close to a full teaching load as possible. If the clinical educator only teaches one prep, the clinical educator, field instructor, and university coordinator will work to find another prep for the teacher candidate to teach from another colleague in the department.
- Teacher candidate is expected to participate in all of the appropriate duties of the clinical educator as well as maintain student records and attend faculty meetings, parent/teacher conferences, and IEP meetings.
- Teacher candidate may help clinical educator with extracurricular activities and/or coaching or chaperone school events but the teacher candidate’s first and primary responsibility is teaching.
- Follow school calendar for student teaching attendance; follow university calendar for attendance for HIST 493.
- Attend HIST 493 (Tuesdays, 5-8pm); teacher candidate is excused from any school activity that will cause teacher candidate to be late for seminar.
- Submit daily lesson plans to the clinical educator. Format and due date to be determined by the clinical educator.
- Provide hard copies of the entire lesson plan in the prescribed Social Studies Education format as well as copies of all lesson materials when FORMALLY observed by the field instructor, the Social Studies Education coordinator, or clinical educator. Also provide a hard copy of the Unit Plan Graphic Organizer containing unit compelling and supporting question, lesson titles, and summative assessment.
- Keep a log of hours indicating observation and teaching hours.
- Communicate in a timely manner to clinical educator and field instructor if they will be sick or absent. Follow school procedure if necessary.
